

ADVOCATE & EDUCATE, LLC

2019 Pro Secrets seminar presenters:

Caren Moore, PhD

Dr. Moore is a doctoral level School Psychologist, specializing in educational consultation, psychological assessment, psychoeducational assessment and interventions, curriculum-based assessment and measurement, family therapy, individual child and adolescent therapy, home- and school-based behavior plans, group therapy, and organizational consultation. She has extensive knowledge of IDEA disability criteria, IEP development (developmental, behavioral, social, emotional, and academic), and ADA 504 accommodations and evaluations. She primarily works with children, adolescents and young adults ages 7-30. Areas of focus are various mood disorders, anxiety, AD/HD, and developmental disorders. Dr. Moore's goal is to improve individual and family functioning through evidence-based and developmentally appropriate treatments. "I meet my clients where they are and strive to foster positive, overall well-being!"

Kristin Addison-Brown, PhD

Dr. Addison-Brown is a board-certified clinical neuropsychologist specializing in high stakes evaluations such as legal capacity, independent medical evaluations (IMEs), return to work, independent educational evaluations (IEEs) for schools and parents, worker's compensation, social security, and federal aviation administration (FAA) pilot evaluations. She has helped many students seeking accommodations for high stakes testing such as college entrance and board examinations. More information can be found at her website, <http://www.neaneuropsychology.com/>

Available to special needs families throughout Arkansas, Robin Kuykendall assists those faced with the complexities of special education, Section 504, adulthood transition, and Birth to Three processes, inclusive of the whole spectrum of educational need. Robin helps her clients keep current with information by participating in professional development in pertinent law and instruction of children with disabilities. A member of the Council of Parent Attorneys and Advocates (COPAA), the Missouri Bar Association, Tennessee Bar Association, and Knoxville (TN) Bar Association, Robin serves her clients to the highest professional ethical standards, with the goal of helping parents save time while gaining skills they can use for their child, themselves. A former adjunct instructor at the University of Tennessee College of Law and professionally familiar with many Arkansas school districts and their legal counsel, parents can have confidence with Advocate & Educate, LLC services on a continuum from knowledge, networking, recommendations, and conflict resolution. She is the founder of Advocate & Educate, LLC. Arkansas practice limited to IDEA, Section 504, and ADA AA school matters, and not licensed to practice law in Arkansas.

Robin Kuykendall, JD